The Pirie will ask the Bey whether he considers himself a vassal or a peer This sounds nautical but is only political

Wall street operators are already influencing the markets by discussing the crops whether the season is to be a wet or dry one sends stocks up or down

Conkling's friends are now reported as having given up all hopes of securing a caucus The next move will probably be that the friends of Conkling are sure of a caucus

Judge Elliott of Denver sentenced three thieves yesterday to long terms of imprisonment The law in Colorado is beginning to be executed and before long the lawless classes will learn to respect it

Telegraph stockholders so water that the employes wages are cut down some of them discharged and the work put on others without extra pay in order to keep up dividends The employés have plenty of water the question soon will be where to get the bread

The business of the country is apparently increasing in the legitimate channels of trade Stable merchandise is firmer and stronger When the banks are sufficiently stocked they may return to their mechanic shops and their trades and thus give still greater impetus to honest business

The following classification has been made of the Albany legislators as to their positions on the senatorial question Administration 15 assembly 4 total 18 Anti administration senate 9 assembly 1 total 10 On the fence senate 4 assembly 2 total 6 If Conkling could only pull these fellows over on his side of the fence

We take pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of The Revised New Testament and The Companion Volume This revised edition is the improved and placed the New Testament within the reach of all who may wish to compare the new with the old The Company could not do so cheaply just what the changes are and where made

A PUBLIC BENEFACTOR

We may congratulate ourselves upon the fact that the head of the agricultural department has been selected A Massachusetts farmer rich talented agreeable and handsome, occupies the proud position The department is in safe hands Over the distribution of squash and pumpkin seeds a man who has been a local agricultural chief the president of a Puritan senate and a congressman It is strange to notice that when such an appointment has been made there is still so much attention given to the question of Conkling's chances and Mahone's prospects of readjusting the debt of Virginia The last incumbent of the office retires to private life with a noble record During his administration he raised two pounds of tea which cost twenty five thousand dollars and the great newspapers of the country congratulate themselves that it was two and not one pound which he produced It is within the range of possibilities that the newly appointed officer may be as successful

The possible benefits which may be conferred upon the country by the agricultural commissioner are manifold He may mail to every home in the country the most choice seeds and roots gardening will receive additional encouragement, and our exhibits at country fairs will be wonderful to contemplate The commissioner himself may travel even to Colorado and perchance will so interest the people of the young and precocious state that the very plains themselves will become veritable Gardens of Eden He may become a public benefactor

The position of agricultural commissioner has never been considered of much account. It has been a position more of convenience than use. But Dr Loring is an enthusiast in all matters of agriculture he has one of the finest farms in Massachusetts himself, and it is to be hoped that he will make the department useful to the people There is much that might emanate from it which would be of great benefit to the farmers of the country Many valuable suggestions scientific facts and experiences of other farming sections could undoubtedly be easily scattered among those who at present know only the practical details of their pursuits

The important office which the office holder may be raised when it is considered what an important relation agriculture holds to the prosperity of the country As the best and often most high minded thoughts and the sturdiest and most American principles are found in our farmers so we may look to the fruits of the labor in the field and behind the plow for that solid and honest wealth which is characteristic of those engaged in agricultural pursuits Let the department help the farmers, encourage farmers' clubs among the thousands who today are like lost gather all practical and useful knowledge and it may set this people and boys thinking The country will be benefitted, the farmers will be richer and Dr Loring become an honor to Massachusetts if he will only come down to ploughs and squashes and turnips.
